Director's Thought for the day

As we approach 2023, the Lord has been challenging my heart about vision. Helen Keller, a blind girl, once said that the worst thing to have was sight but no spiritual vision for a world that is lost in sin and needing a Saviour.

Isaiah saw a vision of the Lord

In Isaiah Chapter 6, the prophet in v 1-4 saw the Lord. He had a life changing vision. The throne of Judah had changed occupants, but God was still on the throne and in perfect control of all around. In an ever-changing world around us, we need to have a fresh vision of The Lord, the one who never changes! He is in control.

Isaiah also saw a vision of himself

In verses 5-7. He pronounced woes on other people, but we see him now crying, "Woe is me!". He confessed his sin, and the Lord cleansed him. We need to keep close to the Lord. We have an enemy who wants to kill, steal and destroy but we are on the victory side.

Isaiah also saw a vision of the Lost

In verses 8-13. True worship leads to service for God. God didn't send Isaiah to a people who were receptive to his message, nor did God give him an easy message to preach. But he saw the need and was faithful in reaching out.

We ask you to pray with us, as a mission, that God would keep the vision ever before us of a lost and dying world and that he would keep our eyes fixed on Him.

Thank you for your faithful prayers and support for the work of God through Acre International/ Acre Gospel Mission. It is deeply appreciated.

Give Me A Vision, Lord, I Plead,
Vision of Souls And A World In Need:
Loved Ones And Friends, The One Next Door,
Then Let Me See There Are Millions
More.

Give Me A Vision, Heart-Stirring Vision,
Open My Eyes, Lord, today; Show Me
The Sighing,
Doomed And The Dying, Give Me A Vision, I Pray.

Faithful Witness at the Market

For many years now, there has been a faithful witness of the gospel standing at the main entrance to the market in the centre of the city of Manaus, known as the 'Mercado Adolpho Lisboa'. Amidst the hustle and bustle of a busy market place, where people are buying and selling fish, fruit, vegetables and various other food and household items, a man can be seen standing at the entrance, handing out gospel literature, and speaking with the people as they pass by on their daily business.

That man is called Raimundo Nonato, and since 2014, Raimundo has been faithfully carrying out this role, leaving his home in the early hours of the morning and making the journey to the market, ready to meet the people as they begin to arrive. Now at 82 years of age, Raimundo still carries on this work, and although his age now limits his abilities somewhat, his desire is still to be at his post and to spread the good news of the gospel. "It is with great joy that I do this work", he writes, "and we have seen the hand of God at work whilst having conversations with the people". "I am very grateful for the prayerful support of the brothers and sisters in Northern Ireland. It has been a great help and benefit to the work here".

Of course, the evangelistic work at the market traces its origins much further back than 2014. In the book 'When God Steps In', written by Victor Maxwell, it is recorded that the outreach work at the market was started by two missionaries called Nell Shannon and Dulcie Robertson. They had undertaken this work for over thirty years, until, upon their retirement in 1983, they handed the running of the ministry over to the Acre Gospel Mission.

At that time, Hazel Miskimmin had been working in the town of Labrea, but felt that her work there was coming to an end. When Victor and Audrey Maxwell spoke to her about the possibility of taking up the challenge at the market in Manaus, Hazel immediately accepted and was on her way to Manaus within a few days. Over the years that followed, Hazel faithfully stood at her spot at the market gateway, handing out tracts and speaking to passers-by about their need of salvation. Through Hazel's dedication and faithfulness to this task, Allen Loney records of her work that "through this daily witness, Hazel had led hundreds of people to Jesus Christ". Eventually, Hazel had to leave the work behind and travel home to Northern Ireland to care for her mother in her declining health.

But there is no doubt that this ministry, which has been going on for over 70 years, has touched the lives of many, and only Heaven will reveal the true extent of the fruit which has come from the faithful witness at the market. Please continue to pray for our brother Raimundo, as he continues this work, and that he too will have the joy of leading many more souls to the Saviour.

Visit of Pastor Diego from Sousa, NE Brazil

We were delighted this year to be able to welcome Pastor Diego to the Killyhevlin Autumn Break, which took place from 7th - 10th November. Pastor Diego had planned to attend back in 2020, but when the Covid pandemic hit, everything had to be cancelled. We were truly blessed as he shared with us about his conversion, his call to ministry and more recently, his move from the town of São Paulo do Potengi, where he was pastor for 11 years, to the town of Sousa, in the neighbouring state of Paraíba, where he now pastors a church there, and has a desire to plant a new church within a new district of the town called Alto do Cruzeiro.

Diego arrived in Northern Ireland on 28th October, after a 27 hour journey, which took him through London where he had to change from London Heathrow airport to London city airport. When he finally arrived in Belfast he said of this experience that it was 'truly an adventure'! He didn't have much of a chance to rest as he was speaking that night at the Kells prayer meeting, and then over the next 3 weeks spoke at 24 different meetings in various different churches.

Pastor Diego was saved back in 2005, through the ministry of Pastor Elias (who now works in Beja, Portugal). In 2007 he went off to bible college to study more of God's word, and to prepare himself for future ministry. Following his time there he returned to his home town and to the church he was saved in to be the assistant Pastor there. When Elias left for Portugal, Diego took up the role of full time Pastor in the church, a position he held for 11 years. During this time he saw the church grow, with a strong leadership in place, and a number of people trained up to run the various departments of the church, including the children's work.

During his time there he began to do some outreach work in a town called Lajes do Cabugi, which is about 60 kilometres from São Paulo do Potengi. As time progressed, he began to explore the idea that God was calling him to go to this town full time to start a new work there. However, after prayer and exploration of the possibility of going, God closed the doors to this potential new venture. God had other plans for Diego, and he was to receive a call to go to the church in Sousa, some 450 kilometres away from São Paulo do Potengi. This call was accepted, and in January of this year, he and his family moved to the town of Sousa to take up the work there.

Since going there, Diego has been teaching the church about the importance of church planting, and has himself been taking a course along with other pastors on the topic of church planting. A group from the church go every Saturday to the Alto do Cruzeiro district to do evangelistic work, and are praying that soon a small group will be formed there which will one day become a fully functioning church.

Our hearts were truly blessed as we listened to the testimony of Diego, and the vision he has for reaching out into his local community, and we want to pray that God would continue to help Diego and his family in this new work, and that soon there would be many new converts in the town of Sousa.

Montanhas

Pastor Walkênio

Philippians 4:19: "But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus"

My name is Pastor Walkênio, and I have been serving the Lord in the town of Montanhas now for 6 years. My wife's name is Hadassa, and we have 2 girls, Sophia, who is 4 years old, and Rebeca, who is 1.

In this church where we serve, we have a total of 32 people who attend each week. We praise and thank our God for His infinite grace and mercy upon our lives.

I want to thank each of you for your participation in this work, not only in the financial support we receive, but also more importantly for the prayers which are a source of strength for our ministry here. We ask that you continue to pray for us here in this work.

We are involved in weekly ministry with the church, such as the prayer meeting, women's meeting, Sunday school, and our Sunday worship meetings. As well as our regular church members, we also have many visitors who come and sit under the preaching of the gospel, perhaps you could pray for them. Their names are: Raquel, Raila, Deivid, Maria, Adalberto, Aparecida and Natanaeli. We are also just about to finish a bible study with some unbelievers, called Ives and Francielle. Another lady, called Cleide, has just finished a bible study in preparation for baptism in December.

As well as the regular meetings we have in the church, at least once a month we have a meeting outside of the church also. This usually takes place in the home of one of our church members, and it is an excellent opportunity for those who don't normally go to church to hear the gospel. It is sometimes hard however to get our church members to participate in the outreach events, and this is something which I have a desire to work on, and encourage the brethren here to be more involved. God willing I hope to run a series of bible studies on the topic of evangelism, which will hopefully teach our members about the importance of evangelising those around us.

Of course when in the Lord's work, there will always be challenges and difficulties. A lot of the work rests upon my shoulders as the church members haven't stepped up to the task. On a weekly basis it is down to me to clean the church, and to open and close the building, as well as being fully responsible for all the meetings which take place.

We also have no one to play music for us for the hymn singing. And as I have already mentioned, we need more help with the outreach work. It is also a vision and desire of ours to be able to buy a piece of land so that we can build a church building and a manse. Currently, we are renting a place to worship and live in, and the church has been able to save a good percentage of the money needed, we just haven't been able to find a suitable plot of ground yet. We value your prayers for these various challenges.

Thank you once again for praying for us, and may God continue to bless you as you support us in this way.

Montanhas is a municipality in the state of Rio Grande do Norte in the Northeast region of Brazil.

Please pray:

- For more participation in the outreach events
- For the Bible study series
- For the building of a church manse

Bethlehem Village Vale Judeu, Portugal

Any missionary endeavour will always involve looking for creative ways to convey the Good News of the Gospel to those who need to hear. However, finding some medium that will generate this opportunity is probably one of the biggest challenges a missionary will have to face; especially in a secular culture like that of Portugal where people avoid anything that is remotely associated with anything religious. For many years we asked God to give us some tool that would help us reach out to the local community; something that would bring people on site who are literally afraid to step foot onto a church property.

2014 was the year that God opened the door wide for us into the heart of our local community as we launched our very first Bethlehem Village Experience. Without a doubt this yearly event has become our main and most effective outreach event into the community with close to 1000 people coming on site every year to witness the Christmas story over a period of 3 days. Why is Bethlehem village so effective in this context?

Although most Portuguese people would not darken the door of any church whatsoever and normally bluntly refuse any invitation to any of our activities and services that we hold throughout the year, Bethlehem Village seems to remove all cultural and social barriers. The nativity is something that the Portuguese people still cherish, and it is normal to see nativity scenes on many roundabouts and even in shopping centres across Portugal. Mums and dads across the country will bring their Children to see nativity plays and most Portuguese still opt to decorate their homes with miniature nativity scenes over a Christmas tree! Even today in Portugal, Santa takes a back seat at Christmas and it is still “the baby Jesus” who brings the presents on Christmas Eve!

The idea of Bethlehem Village then is to transform our site into an interactive enactment of the Christmas Story with live animals and human actors who play the key roles in the Biblical Christmas story. The Village on the Hill is literally transformed to look like the ancient village of Bethlehem where Jesus was born.

People arrive in droves and are greeted by the sound of the local Salvation Army band who are playing Christmas carols. The people are given a warm drink as they wait around fire pits until they are divided up into groups of between 10-15 people in either the English or Portuguese language. From there, guides all dressed in costumes lead the visitors up the hill through the torch lit winding paths of the Bible Garden to where menacing Roman soldiers are guarding the entrance to the village.

At the gates one of Caesar Augustus' tax officials is waiting to take the census and find out if anybody has anything to declare that they plan to sell in the village market. From there the weary travellers are led into the village courtyard in search of a place to stay the night. They find an Inn, but a sign on the door says no room! They are encouraged to knock on the door and a very grumpy innkeeper comes out and chases them away.

The journey proceeds through a series of interactive dramas from Herod's palace, the shepherds minding their sheep out in the fields, the angelic hosts, the wise men in their Bedouin tent and finally into the church itself where a life size stable is erected where Mary and Joseph tell the story of how they came to give birth to their son in this lowly stable.

The whole event ends with a 5 minute video presentation of the Gospel and each person leaves with a bag full of sweets and carefully chosen Christian literature for them to take home. We also transform our marquee at the top of the hill into a Christmas market where people can buy food and bric a brac and all proceeds are divided between the local Salvation Army and our missionary Jill Kinsey and her shepherd boy project in Lesotho, Africa.

Sadly over the past two years, due to Covid, we were unable to hold the event and we are really looking forward to being able to put it on again this year and rekindle the important opportunity this event gives us to connect with our local community. This year we will be running the event on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of December rounding off the evening with an outdoor candlelight Christmas carol service.

We would ask that you would pray for us as we set up the village and put on the whole event. Pray that God will use it to ignite some flame in the hearts of those who visit and that in God's time, many will come to accept and know not the baby Jesus, but the one who died for their sins. The whole church comes together to make the event happen and it is also a great way of connecting the Portuguese and English part of our fellowship together. Many also use it as an opportunity to invite their non Christian friends and families.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

Isaiah 9:6

Please pray:

- For the setting up of Bethlehem village
- That God would use the event to reach people
- That many people would accept the invitation to attend

Name: Aroldo Alves Areas

Date of Birth: 3.3.1965

Place of Birth: Covoca, Brazil

Serving in: Santo André in Portugal as a Pastor

Hello

My name is AROLDO and I was born in Brazil, the land of Football and great football players! I grew up in a very remote area of Brazil. A very small town called Covoca. But even there the Good News of the Gospel arrived and a lot of people in the village got saved. I was also brought up in a Christian family. I was going to Church and attending Sunday School.

The house I grew up in

Scenery around Covoca

Church in Covoca

When I was 10, I moved to São Paulo to live with one of my older sisters. She was the care taker of an Evangelical church there and I went to church with her but I did not trust Jesus.

Then when I was 16, I went to live with another sister of mine. She was not a Christian and I had no interest in God.

I started drinking Alcohol and doing silly things.

I tried to hide this life from my parents. But then one day when I was 19 and home at my parents house, I read Psalm 139. This Psalm says that God knew me, knew all the wrong things I was doing (and hiding from my parents) but that I couldn't hide anything from Him. That day I remembered all what I had learnt when I was young and I asked the Lord to forgive me, save me and to accept me. And ever since, I have been trying to follow His ways with His love and strength helping me.

O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me.

Psalm 139

After becoming a Christian, I went to Northern Ireland with the idea of learning English and then becoming an English teacher in Brazil. But I ended up staying 8 years in Belfast.

I learnt so much about God in these years and I felt that God wanted me to become a Missionary instead of an English teacher. At that time I had already met my wife-to-be Emmanuelle.

I shared with her my desire to be a Missionary and to study in a Bible College and so I went and studied 3 years in the College and Emmanuelle joined me on my last year. We already knew the Mission Acre International and we had many friends there. We applied to become Missionaries with them in 1991 and we were accepted.

After getting married in November 1991 we went to Portugal as Missionaries in April 1992 and we have been there ever since. Here in Portugal I am the Pastor of a small congregation called the Evangelical Church of Santo André.

The whole of Portugal is very beautiful. It has many beautiful sceneries but my favourite one is the Alentejo, where we live. It is a very sunny place beside the sea and I love the heat.

Our church

Our beach

Portugal also has really nice food.

My favourite food is rice with seafood and Black Pig chops.

When we arrived in the Alentejo 30 years ago, many things were still very backward. There were no good roads, no shopping centres, no McDonalds, no pizza places, very little shops and very little public transport. It was hard to adjust to such a limited place. But the people were very nice and helpful towards us and our three little children.

Living here far away from Brazil makes me miss my family a lot. I have 13 brothers and sisters, and many cousins and nephews and nieces and I miss them all.

My favourite story in my missionary life happened when I had a Gospel literature stand at our town's local market. There I met a young man who was searching for the Lord. He had been betrayed by a local church and was mad at God and at people. Week after week he came to speak to me. Then one day he came to church and later then he brought his family. After becoming a Christian he got involved in the work of the church by leading the Praise team and the Youth work. What a change from a depressed and angry man to a humble and joyful man who is serving the Lord, his Saviour, with gladness and joy from his heart.

My vision for Portugal is to see the Portuguese people saved for God's glory. I would love to see them all worshipping the true Lord of Creation.

The Portuguese often worship statues and images, gods who neither hear, nor talk. It is very sad.

Thank you for all your prayers!

Many Portuguese are praying only to Mary

Explorers

The Portuguese are known for some impressive explorers.

Bartolomeu Dias (1450-1500): the first European to sail around the Cape of Good Hope

Vasco da Gama (1460-1524): the first European to sail from Europe to India

Ferdinand Magellan (1480-1521): the first person to sail the Pacific Ocean and around South America.

Lisbon

"Lisboa" is the capital and largest city of Portugal

The Vasco da Gama Bridge, located in Lisbon, is the second longest bridge in Europe. It is 7.66 miles long.

Surfing

Portugal has roughly 1,115 miles (1,794 kilometers) of coastline.

It is considered one of the greatest surfing destinations on the planet.

The Largest wave that was ever surfed happened in Nazaré, Portugal, in 2022. Sebastian Steudtner conquered a new Guinness World Record when he surfed the 26.21 metre wave.

Roman Catholic Church

The majority of the Portuguese people are devoted Roman Catholics. You will find 44 Counties, 21 County Seats, 3000 Parishes without any evangelical churches.

Cork trees

The Cork tree covers about 8 percent of the total area of Portugal and makes up 28 percent of its forests. Portugal produces about half the world output of commercial cork.

Feijó, Acre

Pastor Ageu Aquino and Family

It is a great privilege for me to be able to share with you something of the work here in the town of Feijó, in the state of Acre, Brazil. We are working alongside the First Baptist Church of Feijó, and we thank God that the work here continues on well, with the help of our Heavenly Father.

We continue our outreach programs in the area, and we are also seeking to disciple the people of this region. In the town, we have several bible study groups, some are with men, others with the women, and we also have a study group for the young people and teenagers. Our weekly ministry with the boys and girls also continues well.

We also have a ministry among the indigenous people who live in the rural areas within the region. We are specifically working alongside two tribes, known as the Shanenawás and Kaxinawás people, and our church has been involved in this ministry there now for the past six years.

Some of their villages are quite close to our town, and others can only be accessed by boat. Within the Shanenawás group, we have seen a number of people converted, and we have been working with a young couple who have recently been converted and who are now preparing themselves for future ministry among their own people. Within the tribe of the Kaxinawá people there is a man there called Julio Nunes. He, along with his grandchildren, love to sing, and they sing hymns and worship songs in their own language, which is a great ministry to their local friends and neighbours.

In the Shanenawás village, we don't yet have a church building there, and so we meet in one of their buildings, which really only has a grass roof, and is open around the sides. But we praise God for this opportunity to go into the village and that they have given us this space to hold our meetings in. Please pray with us that more people from these tribes will trust in our Lord and Saviour.

I want to thank you for all your interest and prayers for the work here in this part of Brazil, we really appreciate your support for our ministry here in Feijó, and for the work among the indigenous people. We pray that God will continue to do a great work here for His honour and glory.

Feijó is a municipality in the centre of the state of Acre in the West of Brazil.

As of 2020, its population was 34,884. The total land area is 24,202 km².

Please pray:

- For the outreach programs
- For the Bible study groups
- For the Shanenawás and Kaxinawás people

Supporting our missionaries in the place of prayer

It has often been said that when Charles Haddon Spurgeon, that well known preacher from the past, would take visitors on a tour around the London Metropolitan Tabernacle, the place where he ministered, he would always take the visitors on a tour of the boiler room. Perhaps those visitors thought they were going to see a boiler, and all its workings, which kept the church warm.

However, when Spurgeon flung open the door, to the amazement of the visitors, there would be several hundred people on their knees in prayer. When people asked for the secret to his ministry, Spurgeon would always take them to see his 'boiler room', the place of prayer. Spurgeon said "if the engine room is out of action, then the whole mill will grind to a halt. We cannot expect blessing if we do not ask".

As a mission, we have been blessed down through the years to have had faithful prayer warriors, who have stood behind the mission and its workers in prayer. Each month, people gather in various locations around the country to lift up the needs of the mission to the Lord in prayer. Over the next number of editions of this magazine, we would like to introduce you to our 'boiler rooms', and the people who seek to keep them running month by month.

In this edition, we will read of the Lurgan Prayer Meeting, in an article written by Rosemary Crozier, who opens up her home each month for the meeting.

"The first meeting of the Lurgan Prayer Group was held in October 2006. There were thirteen of us and Stephen and Hetty Smith (former Acre missionaries), shared in the meeting. I had been thinking of starting a prayer group for some time but I kept putting it off. One night Keith Lindsay (Acre Co-ordinator) challenged me and said that I should start a prayer group in Lurgan, and this was the push I needed.

I asked a few friends if I started a prayer group would they come along, and each one said they would. We have had some great nights of prayer and fellowship, and have enjoyed having the Acre missionaries and various Brazilian pastors come and share at the meetings over the years. I would encourage you all to consider joining a prayer group, or even starting one up for yourself. If you would like to come to the Lurgan Prayer Group, you would be very welcome to join us (more details can be obtained from the mission office). We meet on the fourth Monday of each month at 2.30pm and you will be richly blessed through spending this time with God's people in prayer for the work of Acre".

Children's work in Rio Branco

Dr Tom and Lucimar Geddis keep in regular contact with the children's workers in Rio Branco. One of those workers, Gleiciane, has sent the following report:

I want to give God the praise for His mercy upon my life each day and upon the work here in Rio Branco. We have received many blessings, and I want to share a little about what has been happening here.

On 6th October I had the privilege to teach a bible lesson in a public school here in Rio Branco. I was invited to go there by an 8 year old boy called Geovanny, who asked me that for his birthday gift he would like me to go there to his school and teach a lesson to his class. My heart was filled with joy to see such a demonstration of the love for the word of God. Straight away I accepted, and praise God the door has remained open for me to return another time.

I really want to thank Lucimar for her love for the work of God here, and because of her we are able to bless pastors and missionaries with literature, which has been instrumental in the salvation of souls, not only here in Rio Branco, but also in many other areas.

We also have a children's work called Jesus me ama (Jesus loves me) in the neighbourhood behind where I live. We meet every Wednesday at 15.30, and many have accepted Jesus Christ. One boy, the first of the children to accept Jesus as his Saviour, lives at home with his family who are still unsaved. Please pray for salvation in this home.

Thank you once again for your prayers for us here, and pray for the children, that many will come to Christ and grow up to be men and women of God.

My Response

☐ I would like to receive your monthly prayer letter/magazine

☐ I would like a gift aid form
